Public Speaking Firm Announces Women's Empowerment Party to Help Students Pay for School

ATLANTA, Aug. 13 /PRNewswire/ -- Correlations, LLC is proud to host the "Imagine Me" Women's Empowerment Party to help raise money for Helen Delores Scholarships. Helen Delores died of cancer in 1996 and lived her life with timeless philanthropic convictions. Her legacy continues through this exclusive event Saturday, October 20th, 2007 at 5:00 PM at the W Atlanta 111 Perimeter Center West Atlanta, GA 30346. Sponsorships are encouraged and available.

The aim of the party is to provide networking opportunities with some of the most accomplished women in the country to stimulate money management, investment strategies and motivation. Careers and spirits are expected to be ignited by #1 National Best Selling author Asha Tyson "How I Retired at 26!" The women are in for a special treat with entertainment from Comedienne, Chocolate as seen on BET's Comic View, live music from Mahogany Dust, inspirational performances, great food, door prizes and so much more!

A rapidly growing public speaking business that began five years ago out of the back of a household kitchen, Correlations plans to help students accomplish their educational goals by hosting this year's event to encourage the community to lend their support for next generation leaders. Correlations goes far beyond training and coaching professionals on public speaking. Correlations is also involved with Humble Beginnings, a non-profit organization dedicated to helping men overcome adversity and sponsors quarterly events for the public on finances, communication, wellness and business development.

Correlations founder, Helena Paschal said, "We are pleased to have the opportunity to raise money and awareness at this party to help reduce the cost of education for college students throughout the nation. It is an honor to have the chance to support emerging talent and future leaders majoring in liberal arts."

Starting in 2008, Helen Delores National Scholarships of $10,000 will be awarded to five outstanding students. Helen Delores scholarships are open to high school seniors or freshman students who are already enrolled in a full-time undergraduate course of study at an accredited two or four year college, university, or vocational-technical school.
